

Newark Healing: Community Meeting

In the past two years, hundreds of community residents and police officers have spent hours exchanging stories about their own trauma and learning about the trauma of the other.

Join us for an action session that highlights our work and identifies opportunities to break the cycles of violence and trauma in Newark to:

- ◆ Improve community-police relations
- ◆ Support the healing of trauma in our community
- ◆ Break the cycle of violence

We stand together to take bold action and increase healing and supportive resources for everyone!
